This is the story of two brothers, Jules and Spéracédès, divided in every way. They do not know they are brothers. They do not know they have, or had, the same father. Jules is a dreamer, an innocent who lives by his impulses. Spéracédès is a criminal, the head of the local mafia. One day, however, an event brings them together and leads them to discover the truth: the truth about their past and themselves...
