The biography of the legendary author of Tintin, this album goes from the scouting years, to the first publications in the Belgian press, to his artistic discoveries and encounters with Jacobs, Chang and Warhol. Bocquet, Fromental and Stanislas use a 'clear line' style to depict the fascinating life, as full of doubt as it was of certainty, of the author who created a universal work, considered by many as the first modern graphic novel. This an unauthorized biography, but each of its strips shows respect for both the man and the work. An album unanimously hailed as a great success.
