Jean-Paul Goude is one of the greatest creators of modern images. We have him to thank for iconic works for Chanel, the Galeries Lafayette, Kodak, the bicentenary parade, and more besides. This autumn, the Musée des arts décoratifs in Paris will be offering the first major retrospective of his work, and for the occasion he will be opening the doors of his atelier to the two authors of a graphic novel that revisits his life; a richly illustrated chronology of his works.
