Nana doesn't mind moving from school to school. This teenager has no ambition, no friends, no desires. One day while she's cutting class she goes into a record store and buys the album of her favourite band 'Downhearted Dragonfly'. On the cover there is a drawing of a weird animal that could be a cuddly toy. She has a strange feeling about this animal, something deep and hard to describe. It is Kylooe.

She sees him. He is alive. They talk. He walks with her, protects her. Kylooe, her long lost friend, whom she had almost completely forgotten about, is back.
