Suzan or Shania? New Zealander or Estonian? The daughter of an American ambassador or of dissident Jews from the USSR? Lost child or petty thief? Victim of blackmail or high-level spy? Who is Lady S? Action, suspense and modern-day adventures in a carefully crafted geopolitical context, 'Lady S', created by Jean Van Hamme at the top of his form and illustrated by the evertalented Philippe Aymond, holds all the cards to become one of the major series of the Franco-Belgian school.

In this series

Au nom du père, du fils et Missions suicides du Samarium
