Her name is Lea and she's the only daughter of a couple that has been separated for quite some time. Her father is a doctor, too busy saving the world to find the time to take care of his daughter. As for her mother, who passed away 10 years earlier, the only thing Lea remembers about her is that she never hugged her. "Only child" - seems simple enough. However, before she was born, her parents had a son, Leo. Lea had always lived with the unpleasant impression that she was born to replace her brother. Between her TV job and short-lived relationships, she lives a drifter's life. The day her father dies, Lea decides to retrace her past. She will uncover a family secret and will come to terms with her family history and with herself - in order to rediscover the joy of living...Zidrou writes a moving story, filled with tenderness and subtlety, illustrated with finesse by Benoit Springer, whose delicate lines suit the script perfectly.

C'EST QUOI, ÇA ?!

TU NE RECONNAIS DONC PLUS TA PROPRE FILLE ?

BIEN SÛR QUE SI, JE RECONNAIS MA FILLE, SURTOUT QUAND ELLE EST À POIL DANS UN MAGAZINE QUI TIRE À 2 MILLIONS D'EXEMPLAIRES !

UNE PERSONNE BIEN INTENTIONNÉE AVAIT EU LA DÉLICATESSE DE GLISSER LE "FOUFOUNE" DU MOIS PARMI LES AUTRES REVUES.

OH, PAPA, CE NE SONT QUE QUELQUES PHOTOS DE CHARME !

EXCUSE-MOI D'ÊTRE UN VIEUX CON, LÉA, MAIS DE MON TEMPS, LE CHARME NE CONSISTAIT PAS À SE VAUTRER DANS LA BOUE, LA CROUPE EN L'AIR POUR QU'ON TE VOIE BIEN LA FOUFOUNE !

J'AI 24 ANS ! JE FAIS CE QUE JE VEUX DE MA... "FOUFOUNE", COMME TU DIS !

J'AI TOUCHÉ 24 000 EUROS POUR CES PHOTOS !

24 000 EUROS !

TU AS SURTOUT TOUCHÉ LE FOND, LÉA.
