The wolf terrorizes the forest and its inhabitants, who live in constant fear of getting bitten on the backside! That is, until the day the wolf actually comes to the forest. Let's just say he's not exactly what everyone thought... In fact, he's not scary at all! No raised hackles, no glint of madness in his eye, nothing of the sort. But how can the people learn to live without fear when it's become their driving force?

In this series
