Jacques Merenda is spending a typically “quiet” evening with his lover, Loulou Crystal. A phone call, and they are unexpectedly on their way to the capital. But why the trip into hostile territory? A payload. A massive payload. A star to rob. Jewelry. In the midst of fashion week, the cops will be busy ogling something other than the star’s necklaces, rings, and baubles. Child’s play. In two days, they’ll be back on the coast...

Joann Sfar continues the adventures of Merenda in comics! Vivid, irreverent, and with sublime artwork and colors!
