Sylvain Runberg has launched a really explosive story. With moments of comedy and emotional revelations, the rhythm is gathering speed as matters come to a truly disastrous head for its heroes! Christopher had already proven his talent for depicting the everyday in his series 'Les Filles'. Here he scales a new graphic peak, refining his style and moving towards a style that is more mature and confident. He does not hesitate to use dark colours and black, which adds new precision to his handling of his heroes.
