What a lovely sight it is to wander about in Burrow Woods! The wind blowing through its trees, the sun shining down on its meadows, luxurious nature all around. But most of all, Burrow Woods is home to a great society of noble animals. Counts and countesses, dukes and duchesses, noble rabbits and simple mice all live in what appears to be the pinnacle of good manners and etiquette. But be careful. Scratch the surface and you might find that all things pretty have an ugly side...

An intelligent and subtle criticism of our own society by author Thibault Guichon, stunningly illustrated by Frédéric Pillot.
