It is 2233, and humanity has spread to other worlds. Elixir and Yakkun are “Honeymoon Killers” (HKs)—elite fighters and soulmates whose job is to erase all evidence of invasion in the new human colonies across the galaxy. When their spacecraft flies out of control, they crash on an unidentified planet and find that it is home to a human colony. Landing in separate capsules and with no way of communicating with each other, they do everything they can to unravel the planet’s mysteries and find each other again...

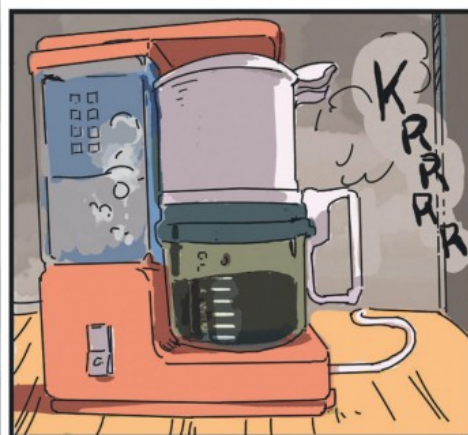

No Love Lost is a crossover between space opera and Japanese pop culture. It’s a story of immense love set against a political backdrop on the edge of the universe.
