Afin de profiter de la fraîcheur de la nuit tombante, le souper fut servi dans le jardin. Le père de Robert régala l'assemblée d'anecdotes sur sa journée de pêche au tarpon dans le golfe. Le patriarche joua son rôle à la perfection. Pas un instant, ils n'abordèrent les vraies raisons de la présence de Josuah sur la plantation Belrose...

Josuah pouvait entendre au loin le galop nerveux des chevaux martelant le sol de leurs sabots. Une lune rousse éclairait le fleuve ridé par un vent chaud chargé du parfum des camélias en fleurs. Les arbres morts charriés par le courant rappelaient le danger caché dans les profondeurs sombres, prêt à faire surface à tout moment...
