Franck Thilliez, the uncontested master of the French thriller, joins Mig for the graphic novel adaptation of "Puzzle," a remarkable mystery thriller halfway between fiction and reality.

Ilan and Chloé, a duo of treasure hunting specialists, have long dreamed of taking part in the hunt of all hunts: a mysterious game called Paranoia. But when the day finally comes, and they receive the rules, they quickly realize they might have made a terrible mistake... Rule #1: Whatever happens, everything you are about to experience is fiction. It's nothing but a game.

And rule #2: One of you is going to die. When the players find the first dead body, the border between illusion and reality starts to dissolve, and Paranoia officially begins...
