Fidel Castro is completely furious! All around him, people are gossiping and plotting to eliminate him from the political game. Even his own men, infiltrated by the CIA, offer him booby-trapped cigars! Traveling to New York for a historic speech at the UN, the Cuban leader is on his guard, totally paranoid. Quite the opposite of Spirou, who has come as a simple reporter to cover the event. But our bellboy doesn't yet know that he's about to be accused of attacking Castro, and forcibly taken to Cuba! His only hope is Fantasio, who immediately flies off to South America, and Secotine, already in Cuba for a report. Unless Secotine falls for the communist ideals of the charismatic Che Guevara...

When Spirou's adventures crossover with the adventures of history, the result is an explosive album: Bay of Pigs!
