Hoki Province, Japan, 2241. The island is populated by androids who tirelessly reenact the same samurai battles...

The 3rd "Crisis of Man" destroyed nearly all traces of human life. Among the ruins of a feudal Japan rebuilt from scratch, the few machines that survived continue to follow their traditional protocols.

While humanity was thought to be unable to survive on the surface, one of the robots—a Yojimbot—comes face to face with a survivor, a child, threatened by a group of heavily-armed soldiers. The Yojimbot decides to intervene, and is soon joined by other robots who come together to defend the young boy. But they face powerful opponents determined to snuff out all resistance...
